*Thy rebuke hath broken his heart,
Behold, and see if there be any sorrow, Messiah

G. F. Handel
(1685-1759)

Thy rebuke hath broken His heart: He is full of heaviness. He looked for some to have pity on Him, but there was no man, neither found He any to comfort Him. Behold, and see if there be any sorrow like unto His sorrow.

Psalm 69:20, Lamentations 1:12

Precious Lord, Take My Hand

Thomas A. Dorsey
(1899-1993)

Precious Lord, take my hand, lead me on, let me stand. I'm tired, I'm weak, I'm lone through the storm, through the night. Lead me on to the light, take my hand precious Lord, lead me home. Precious Lord, you're the one that I build my life on. You're my rock, You're my hope, You are my song. You picked me up and made me strong when my way, when it was wrong. Here's my hand precious Lord now lead me home. When my way grows drear precious Lord linger near. When my light is almost gone hear my cry, hear my call. Hold my hand lest I fall, take my hand precious Lord, lead me home.

Turn Thee to me, Biblical Songs, Op. 99, No. 8

Antonín Dvořák

(1841-1904)

Turn Thee to me and have mercy for I am desolate and sore distressed. Great are the sorrows of my heart; bring me out of my distress. Oh be merciful, look out for my sorrow, see mine affliction and forgive me all my wickedness. Keep my soul in safety and deliver me. Let me never be confounded for my hope is in Thee.

The Crucifixion, Hermit Songs, Op. 29

Samuel Barber

(1910-1981)

At the cry of the first bird they began to crucify Thee, O Swan! Never shall lament cease because of that. It was like the parting of day from night. Ah, sore was the suffering borne by the body of Mary's Son, but sorer still to Him was the grief which for His sake came upon His Mother.

The Speckled Book, 12th century
Translated by Howard Mumford Jones
